ALL 64 GEOGRAPHICAL INDICATIONS

Australian wine regions

AVERAGE JANUARY TEMPERATURE

Under 19.5°C
Tasmania, Robe

19.5 to 21°C
Coonawarra, Yarra Valley

21 to 22.5°C
McLaren Vale, Langhorne Creek

22.5 to 24°C
Barossa Valley, Clare Valley

24°C and over
Riverland, Riverina

Cooler regions tend to make lighter, fresher wine.
Warmer ones tend to make riper, fuller wine.

Bigger names have more vineyard planted. First edition, October 2026.

QUEENSLAND

NEW SOUTH WALES

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

VICTORIA

South Burnett
Granite Belt
New England Australia
Hastings River
Hunter
Mudgee
Orange
Cowra
Hilltops
Southern Highlands
Shoalhaven Coast
Canberra District
Gundagai
Riverina
Murray Darling
Swan Hill
Tumbarumba
Rutherglen
Glenrowan
Beechworth
Strathbogie Ranges
Alpine Valleys
King Valley
Upper Goulburn
Yarra Valley
Mornington Peninsula
Geelong
Macedon Ranges
Sunbury
Bendigo
Heathcote
Goulburn Valley
Perricoota
Pyrenees
Grampians
Henty
Wrattonbully
Padthaway
Mount Benson
Robe
Coonawarra
Mount Gambier
Southern Flinders Ranges
Clare Valley
Barossa Valley
Riverland
Adelaide Plains
Eden Valley
Adelaide Hills
McLaren Vale
Langhorne Creek
Southern Fleurieu
Currency Creek
Kangaroo Island

Bass Strait

Tasmania
Pipers River
Tamar Valley
North West
East Coast
Coal River Valley
Derwent Valley
Huon Valley and Channel

Tasmania is one GI.
The small names are growing areas inside it, not GIs.

24°S
26°S
28°S
30°S
32°S
34°S
36°S
38°S
40°S
48°S

134°E
136°E
138°E
140°E
142°E
144°E
146°E
148°E
150°E
152°E
154°E

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Perth and the south west, enlarged

Swan District
Perth Hills
Peel
Geographe
Margaret River
Blackwood Valley
Manjimup
Pemberton
Great Southern

50 km

N

250 km

Boundaries, climate and vineyard figures from the Wine Australia Geographical Indications register, used under CC BY 4.0.

Regions are shaded by average January temperature over many years.

BARELLO

barello.app